@angular/cli - advanced

4. Serving an app

ng serve

- For developing your app you can open a development server for an application you created

  - npx ng serve hello-world

AOT

- The development server is running with AOT compilation (was not the case in angular version 8 and below)

- We have better template error checking while we develop

- EX. Let's create some template error and view a few errors

Thank You
